

*If your attention is divided when you're on the road,
the road only gets half of your attention.*

